Thanks to funding from the West Midlands Police & Crime Commissioner, Peacemakers are offering schools an INSET designed to promote critical thinking around peace and conflict.

The training is suitable for staff in primary, secondary and alternative provision settings and aims to:

Consider the relevance of investing in relationships in school settings, as a response to the conflict and violence young people may be experiencing.

Consider ways of engaging young people in conversations about peace and violence.

Explore tried and tested strategies for developing non-violent responses to conflict, with young people.

The training will be participatory and experiential.

By the end of the session participants will have tools to take away and use in the classroom, questions for self-reflection, and learning to share with their school.

The Minus Violence Plus Peace Project is a partnership between
