

Danny & Tom's Story

Danny and Tom were just about to cross the road outside the school at home time when they saw this police car stop and two officers get out. One of the officers asked Danny if he'd seen a Dalmatian dog wandering around, looking lost. Tom laughed and said was its name Pongo and were they looking for a really frightening woman called Cruella De Ville as well? Danny got a bit upset with Tom because Danny really liked dogs and didn't like the idea of one wandering about lost near a busy road. Tom said he liked dogs as well, especially hot dogs.

Anyway, the smaller of the two police officers thanked Danny for being concerned and the taller officer said what a shame it was that Tom couldn't be as understanding as his friend. And that's how the argument between Danny and Tom really started.

